

Recommendations Requested for New Members of the Depository Library Council

The U.S. Government Printing Office is seeking recommendations for new members to serve on the Depository Library Council (DLC). The DLC is an advisory body that counsels the Public Printer in matters pertaining to future trends, innovation, and new concepts in libraries and information dissemination, particularly as they relate to the Federal Depository Library Program (FDLP).

Individuals needed for such service are typically leaders and innovators in key areas related to the future of the FDLP. Currently this includes essential elements of the development, management and dissemination of electronic information, such as version control, authentication, and preservation of digital information.

Submit the names of one or more qualified individuals for consideration using the Web-based form.
